Sunday Schools to Aid Red Cross War Fund. "Patriotic Sunday" is to be observed next Sunday in all the Sunday schools of the United States in response to an appeal by President Wilson to observe the day by generous giving to the Red Cross. President Wilson's letter follows: "To the officers, teachers and scholars of the Sunday schools of the United States of America: The present insistent call of our beloved country must be heard and answered by every citizen of the United States in proportion to his or her ability to maintain the national power and honor. Many citizens will render their aid by force of arms on the battlefield, while others will make their contribution strong by their patriotic gifts and support to the common cause. It is, therefore, highly fitting that the Sunday schools of the nation should observe on this patriotic day, and on this occasion should make a special contribution to the American Red Cross for the alleviation of the suffering entailed by the prosecution of the war."

MEDICAL ADVISORY BOARD NAMED TO AID RED CROSS. Committee of Expert Sanitarians Appointed to Work With War Council.

Sanitation and public health, both in the war fields abroad and to meet war conditions in the United States, are of most concern to the American Red Cross. Providing for expert advice, the war council has appointed the medical advisory committee of leading sanitarians and public health authorities, which held its first meeting at Red Cross headquarters today. This committee is composed of Dr. Simon Flexner, director, Rockefeller Institute, chairman; Dr. John W. Younger, director general, United States public health service; Dr. Herman M. Biggs, director of the New York state department of health; Dr. William H. Welch, dean of school of hygiene, Johns Hopkins University; Dr. Frank S. Rowland, professor of medicine, University of Chicago; Dr. M. J. Rosenau, professor of preventive medicine, Harvard University; Charles E. Hoar, director of the international health board; Dr. Victor C. Vaughan, professor of hygiene, University of Michigan; Dr. Charles V. Chapin, department of health, Providence, R. I.; Dr. Richard P. Strong, professor of tropical medicine, Harvard University; Dr. Richard M. Pearce, professor of research medicine, University of Pennsylvania.

Ready to Aid Army. Under the plan of the war council its medical advisory committee will be prepared to cooperate in the assistance of the Red Cross as desired, with the medical authorities of the army and navy in matters relating to the health of the armed forces of the United States both abroad and at home. Its services and advice also will be available in connection with matters of health and sanitation which are outside state or federal jurisdiction.

Orphans French Problems. Additional medical problems have been brought about because of the thousands of war orphans in France. Because children have been deprived of mothers and fathers and undernourished physically, there has been a great spread of children's diseases in France.
